

50. Look inside My Heart

O Holy Spirit, I come before you, a lost soul.

My mishaps, mistakes, struggles and heartaches have weakened me and my issues have left my spirit in a shambles. I am but a human bearing the burden of my family.

O Holy Spirit, I come before you, in need.

I ask not for new strength, but renewed strength. I ask only for the ability to lift myself up using the gifts God has already given me. Come into my mind and show me how to find the will to see the beauty of the world through my trials.

O Holy Spirit, I come before you, forsaken.

When I feel forsaken give me the wisdom to find the love in the world and in my family.

When I feel down, remind me that I am not abandoned that I just have to ask for the way.

When I feel lost, show me the path of enlightenment in your grace.

O Holy Spirit, I come before you, humble.

I know I cannot do it alone.

Holy Spirit I ask that You direct my steps as you would with a child.

Holy Spirit I ask that You lead me to hope as you would with a lost soul.

Holy Spirit I pray that you guide me to fulfillment so I can stand up tall with your strength, straight with your guidance and powerful with your grace so I can be holy.

Amen
